Abstract

English-medium instruction (EMI) programmes have been introduced in universities around the world as a response to globalisation and a strategy for internationalisation. During the last twenty years, there has been a considerable increase in the number of EMI courses, especially in Europe and Asia (Kirkpatrick, 2014; Wachter & Maiworm, 2014, Macro et al, 2018). In Vietnamese Higher Education, EMI plays a crucial role in governmental policies. This
